What is Brazil's first large-scale energy storage system? Brazil launched on Thursday its first large-scale energy storage system with a total capacity of 30 MW, power sector regulator Aneel announced.

How many people benefit from battery energy storage in Brazil? The project benefits more than 2 million people in Brazil. ISA CTEEP, a leader in Brazil's power transmission sector, has just energized the first large-scale battery energy storage project in the Brazilian transmission system. The batteries were installed in an area of approximately 5.000 m², which is the equivalent of half a soccer field.

Who approved the first large-scale battery energy storage project in Brazil? Brazil's National Electric Energy Agency (ANEEL) approved the first large-scale battery energy storage project in the Brazilian transmission system.

What is Brazil's largest battery storage project? Further details about Brazil's largest battery storage project to date have been revealed including its integrators and equipment providers. The inauguration of the 30MW/60MWh system took place last year, on the networks of transmission system operator (TSO) ISA CTEEP, as reported by Energy-Storage.news in November.

Will Brazil's first large-scale battery be connected to the grid? From pv magazine LatAm Brazil's transmission system operator, ISA CTEEP, has announced that the country's first large-scale battery has been connected to the grid at one of its electrical substations in Sao Paulo.

BloombergNEF expects cumulative global battery storage capacity to soar from 29.4 gigawatt-hours this year to 710.6 gigawatt-hours in 2029. The amount of storage in Brazil, however, is negligible, according to BNEF. While investors have begun to take interest in the market, storage companies have not gained much traction.

Although a large market, Brazil has been relatively quiet for battery energy storage announcements despite being a relatively early mover in trialling various different battery chemistries, as Energy-Storage.news reported back in 2018. Two years later, BloombergNEF reported that mining giant Vale would deploy a 5MW/10MWh system, the country's
