How has Morocco's electricity mix changed over the past year? Morocco's electricity mix has experienced significant progress over the past year, with a notable increase in the share of renewable energy and a decline in coal's dominance. In 2024, renewable energy accounted for 24% of the country's total electricity generation, a rise from about 22% in 2023.

Why is Morocco reducing coal? This reduction highlights the gradual decline of coal's role in Morocco's energy landscape. Morocco is focused on expanding its renewable energy capacity to meet ambitious long-term goals, aiming for at least 52% of its electricity to come from renewable sources by 2050.

What will Morocco's energy future look like in 2023? Solar energy is expected to play a significant role in this transition, with projections indicating that solar power will make up 57% of renewable energy generation from 2025 to 2027. Wind energy is also forecast to grow, contributing 15.4% of Morocco's electricity mix in 2023 and expected to increase further in the coming years.
