What are the UK's first pumped storage hydropower schemes? Another first was recently announced by Gilkes Energy in the UK, who released details of its planned 900MW Earba Storage Project in Scotland, the company's first pumped storage hydropower scheme. Earba Storage Project will store up to 33,000 MWh of energy, making it the largest such scheme in the UK in terms of energy stored.

Can pumped hydro-energy storage be used in the UK? In February, it was announced that, in partnership with the University of Greenwich and the University of Exeter, UK firm RheEnergise had secured a grant of £1 million from the UK government to help identify and test waste materials that could be used as part of a new form of pumped hydro-energy storage.

Can pumped storage hydropower predict electric grid stability? Recent developments in pumped storage hydropower. (Credit: Nareeta Martin on Unsplash) Scientists at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, and Oak Ridge National Laboratory in the US developed an algorithm to predict electric grid stability using signals from pumped storage hydropower projects.

Will pumped hydropower plants boost Finland's green transition? Finland has announced plans to build up to three small-scale pumped storage hydropower plants in the northern part of the country to bolster its green transition and enhance energy balance. Suomen Voima announced details of this new £300 million energy storage venture called Noste, in the Kemijärvi region.

What is Snowy Hydro's pumped storage hydropower project? Snowy Hydro has announced a significant milestone for the Snowy 2.0 pumped storage hydropower project, as the final metres of the power station's 223m long transformer hall cavern crown have been successfully breached in Australia.
